

Is a Home Elevator Right for Your Home and Your Life?

A Guide for Perth Homeowners Planning Ahead.

Installing a residential elevator is rarely about one single reason. For most homeowners, it is a combination of lifestyle, long-term thinking and the desire to continue enjoying a home without compromise.

Why Perth Homeowners Consider a Home Elevator.

- Planning to stay long term in a multi-level home
- Future-proof without altering the way you live today
- Regularly carry groceries, laundry, luggage or sports equipment between floors
- Designing or renovating and want to plan appropriately from the start
- Considering ageing parents, adult children or guests staying with you
- Value comfort, independence and seamless movement through your home

Is Your Home Suitable?

Most homes are more suitable for a lift than people expect. We can often find elegant solutions for homes appearing tight on space. A home lift may be possible if:

- Your home has two or more levels
- There is space within the existing footprint or joinery
- You are renovating, building or open to modest internal changes
- Structural adjustments are achievable without compromising design
